Directions from Málaga Airport

- From the airport follow the E15/N34 signs for Málaga.
- After 5 minutes you'll see signs for Antequera - follow these. You'll see a selection of road numbers, including blue signs for the A-45, and sometimes others but it is better simply to follow the signs for Antequera and/or Granada.
- After 10-15 minutes you will be heading north around Málaga; at junction 241, take the A-45 towards Granada/Sevilla/Córdoba
- The motorway heads north, away from the coast, and passes through some short tunnels.
- After 15- 20 minutes, fork right at junction 114, onto the A92-M for Granada (don't follow the other fork for Antequera)
- After 15 minutes, at junction 1, take the A333 to Villanueva de Tapia (you'll need to turn left after 1km, following the sign for Villanueva de Tapia)

Once on the A333:

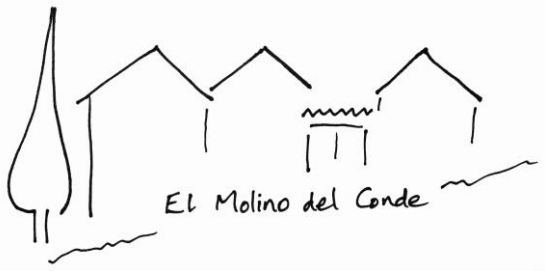

- Continue on the A333 towards Iznájar, passing 2 turnoffs signposted "Villanueva de Tapia"
- 5 minutes after the second sign for Villanueva de Tapia, turn right onto the A328 towards Loja
- Shortly after 2 km (there's a "2km" marker on the right hand side of the road) take the next right turn onto a small unmade road (a small wooden sign says "Camino de Iznájar")

The entrance to the Camino de Iznájar is at

Latitude (north): 37.20425

Longitude (west): -4.32055

- You'll see El Molino del Conde on your left, after 300 metres (just after the road becomes tarmac).

Directions from Granada Airport

- Take the A-92 motorway (signposted Sevilla/Málaga)
- Stay on the motorway passing Loja and Riofrío. Eventually the motorway splits into two - one road heads for Málaga and the other heads for Sevilla.

KEEP LEFT - STAY ON THE ROAD FOR SEVILLA!

- After one more kilometre take Exit 175, signposted Iznájar and Villanueva de Tapia.
- At the next T-junction, turn left following the sign for Villanueva de Tapia
